

BREAK THROUGH CFK

CAROLINA for KIBERA 2018 ANNUAL REPORT

A breakthrough is defined as “an act or instance of moving through or beyond an obstacle.”

There is no easy solution to poverty, it is often cyclical and affects many facets of one's life.

In this year's annual report, we share the many ways that CFK has been walking alongside our beneficiaries to understand the ever-changing needs of our community to make a lasting impact together. We will take you on a journey through integrated programming designed to offer holistic solutions to poverty within informal settlements.

I encourage you to read through the entire report and help us celebrate the breakthroughs of our beneficiaries towards brighter futures.

A young man, Jeffrey, is the central figure, smiling and speaking into a microphone. He is wearing a light blue button-down shirt with a red HIV/AIDS awareness ribbon pinned to the left chest. The background is slightly blurred, showing other people and a sign that partially reads 'SECURITY' and 'KISUMU'.

MEET JEFFREY

One leader developed. One life changed.

Born and raised in Kibera, Jeffrey overcame a myriad of challenges to complete his education and hone his passion for journalism. He was first exposed to CFK in high school through a health outreach facilitated in his school.

Jeffrey, 23, became a Youth Peer Provider for the Young Health and Wellness program.

Over the past five years volunteering with CFK, Jeffrey has had pivotal opportunities to build upon his passions, serve as a mentor and create opportunities for other youth in Kibera to flourish. Our staff watched him come alive through facilitating radio shows for youth focused on sexual and reproductive health. Jeffrey is using his skills, influence and knowledge to address this critical issue in his community and positively impact the lives of his peers.

"This exposure gave me the drive to seek a scholarship for me to pursue a college diploma in journalism and volunteer part time with a local radio station. I cannot wait to see where this new phase of my life takes me."

Jeffrey now works as a Field Journalist at Citizen TV, one of the leading media stations in Kenya.

"Life was not as rosy as I imagined [between] the stress of the big city and the expectation of supporting a family back home. I had no job skills, therefore I had to settle for odd jobs. I learned of the CFK girls program which I felt identified with my challenges. In CFK's ICT center, I have been able to learn the basics in computer packages. Now, I look forward to advancing to a diploma level where I can specialize."
